More Than 500 Questionable Stock Salesmen Who Are in Competition With Liberty Bond Sale May Be Halted.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Washington, October 1.—More than 500 promoters of questionable speculative enterprises who are selling securities in competition with the 4th Liberty Loan and in defiance with the government capital issues committee are under investigation and steps to blacklist them may be taken soon. This was learned today from a preliminary report of the enforcement section of the capital issues committee which for weeks has been gathering evidence on the activities of wild cat promotion schemes.

HUNS IN PANIC OVER DEFLECTION OF BULGARIANS

War Stocks Slump Violently and There Has Arisen a Wild Clamor That "Something Be Done."

By Associated Press Cable.
London, October 1.—There is the greatest excitement in Germany over the defection of Bulgaria, judging from special dispatches. On Saturday the excitement amounted to a panic. According to some reports the panic particularly affected the Berlin Bourse where war industry stocks slumped violently. Panic also struck parliament and newspapers and public officers. The alarm brought forth the instant demand that "something be done."

INTEREST NOW FOCUSING ON TURK SITUATION

With Bulgaria Out of The War, Observers Wonder What Turkey Will Do.

Believe Ferdinand of Bulgaria Will Be Deposed.

Agreement Thus Far Made Is Purely a Military One.

(Associated Press Cable)

London, September 30.—With Bulgaria out of the war through the armistice convention involving her complete military surrender, interest in the near eastern situation is now being focused on Turkey.

The convention with Bulgaria signed yesterday was a purely military arrangement entered into on behalf of the allies by the French and other military commanders. No political problems are dealt with and questions of boundaries and other arrangements are left to the peace conference.

There has been much discussion in the English press of the status of King Ferdinand and suggestions have been made that he be deposed. That matter also was outside of the convention. The governments of the allies take the view that according to their principle the question of self determination is one which the Bulgarian people must decide if such a question arises in Bulgaria.

The armistice arranged yesterday remains in force until the final and general peace settlement. It constitutes a complete military surrender by Bulgaria. She not only ceases to be an enemy, but ceases to be a belligerent.

Fires behind the German lines are taken as an indication that the enemy is burning supplies, while observers reported movement of transport vehicles apparently well loaded, toward the north.

HUNS FLEEING BEFORE YANKEES IN THE ARGONNE

(By Associated Press Cable)
With the American Army Northwest of Verdun, September 30.—(8:30 p. m.)—American troops today made a great advance on their extreme left along the edge of the Argonne forest.

Although it is apparent that the Germans are desperately trying to keep the Americans back as far as possible from the Kriemhilde line on the front from the Argonne to the Moselle, evidence accumulated today shows that the enemy was weakening, notwithstanding the fury of his general resistance.

Fires behind the German lines are taken as an indication that the enemy is burning supplies, while observers reported movement of transport vehicles apparently well loaded, toward the north.

FROM THE NORTH SEA TO VERDUN THE FRENCH, BRITISH, AMERICANS AND BELGIANS CONTINUE THEIR TERRIBLE ASSAULTS AGAINST THE GERMAN DEFENSES AND HOURLY THE PERIL OF THE HUN ARMY GROWS GRAVER.

BRITISH FIGHT ACROSS SCHELDT CANAL HUNS MAY BE FORCED FROM U-BOAT BASES STRONG STEADY PRESSURE MAINTAINED

Great Changes in Western Battlefront Have Been Wrought in the Last Ten Days. Since September Twenty-sixth French Have Captured Thirteen Thousand Prisoners and Three Hundred Guns.

(By The War Editor of The Associated Press)

French, British, American and Belgian troops continue their smashes against the German defenses, further increasing the peril to the German armies from Verdun to the North Sea. The important bastions of Lille, Cambrai, St. Quentin and Laon more and more are becoming of less use to the Germans.

CAMBRAI IN FLAMES

Cambrai was burning today, having been set afire by the Germans while Field Marshal Haig's forces were pushing forward into its suburbs on the northwest and southwest. Around St. Quentin the British were extending the iron ring about that important point. Between St. Quentin and Cambrai the British are fighting their way across the Scheldt canal at several points, having taken Vendhuile on the canal west of LeCetlet and midway between Cambrai and St. Quentin.

Northeast of St. Quentin the British have taken the town of Levergies.

WEDGE IS WIDENED

The wedge driven in between the fortress of Lille and the German submarine bases on the Belgian coast is being widened rapidly. The Belgians are encircling Roulers on the railway line from Lille to the submarine bases of Ostend and Zeebrugge. Further south the British menace Menin, a junction point on the same railroad, and are along the Lys river west of Menin for a distance of five miles.

The forces under King Albert of Belgium are on open ground and are overcoming heavy attacks by the enemy. It would seem the railroads forming and within the triangle of Lille, Ghent and Bruges would soon be lost to the Germans, bringing about the evacuation of Ostend and Zeebrugge.

BERTHOLET CONTINUES ONSLAUGHTS

General Bertholet resumed this morning his onslaughts against the German lines between the Vesle and the Aisne in the region west of Rheims. The French here are marching toward the eastern end of the Chemin des Dames and the open country north of Rheims, by which the pivot point of Laon can be outflanked.

FRENCH MAINTAIN PRESSURE

From the Suippe river to the Meuse river the French and Americans maintain their strong, steady pressure against the German forces defending the important communication lines running east to Metz from the Laon-St. Quentin region.

West of the Argonne the French are pressing up the valley of the Aisne. Since September 26th the French have captured more than 13,000 enemy troops and more than 300 guns on this front.

East of the Argonne the Americans continue to improve their positions in the face of strong German resistance.

ALLENBY PUSHES BEYOND GALILEE

General Allenby in Palestine has thrown his cavalry far to the north of the Sea of Galilee and they are reported to be 2 1/2 miles from the important railroad junction of Damascus.

GREAT CHANGES IN BATTLEFRONT

In the last ten days the western battle front has seen great changes as the allies have forced their way through the Hindenburg line. From Nieuport the allied line today ran south to Dixmude, southeast to Roulers, south and west to near Armentieres, which is virtually surrounded, and thence on an arch to near LaBassee. Thence it runs south to the western outskirts of Lens, to Gavrelle, where it swings southeastward to a point three miles north of Cambrai.

With the American Army on the St. Quentin Sector, September 30.—American forces fighting on the Hindenburg line south of Guoy have been heavily engaged all day and tonight the action still continues. Australian units have been co-operating with the Americans.

Near the north and south portals of the tunnel through which the St. Quentin canal runs, the fighting has been very heavy. It was at this point the Americans passed over the canal.

Thousands of Germans were poured into the struggle and have been heavily engaged.

BOARD OF HEALTH TAKES ACTION TO CHECK EPIDEMIC

Schools and All Public Assembling Places Are Closed Until Further Orders—1800 Cases of Grippe and Influenza Reported in City and Surrounding Community.

The City Board of Health, at a meeting held Monday night, took drastic action to prevent as far as possible, a further spread of the grippe and influenza epidemic which has been running unchecked in the community for the past ten days or two weeks.

As a result of the action the city schools were dismissed Tuesday morning, for the remainder of this week; all picture shows, churches, and in fact all places of public assembly were ordered closed until further notice in order to stamp out the epidemic as speedily as possible.

According to Health Officer Byron, reports of physicians show the presence of some 1800 cases of the influenza, grippe, or whatever the disease is that is making the rounds of the community, in this city and surrounding territory.

There is little lessening in the number of cases, if any, and invariably where the patient takes proper care of himself or herself, and receives medical attention, the illness does not last but a few days.

Physicians do not believe there is any cause for undue alarm over the situation, and point to the fact that out of some 2,000 or 2,500 cases in the city and county, only one death has been reported due to the disease, and in most instances the patient suffers only from sore throat, aches and bad cold.

In some instances entire families have been afflicted by the disease. Such epidemics are not new in this community, although the present epidemic is attracting more attention because it is more widespread than the usual epidemic of bad colds and the grippe.

The order of the Board of Health follows:

"Orders of the Health Department
Washington C. H. O., Oct. 1
To Those in Control of Public and private schools, houses of worship, picture theater, places of public amusement, all places of large and small gatherings.

"With some 1800 cases of Spanish influenza under the care of physicians, the daily average of cases growing larger and the citizens of Washington and Fayette county facing an epidemic of the disease now sweeping the country.

RELIEF PROMISED

New York, October 1.—It is announced that independent refiners in the mid-continent field have made arrangements with the Standard Oil Company whereby they will get 20,000 barrels of crude oil daily for the next 45 days from that field. This amount, it is said, is more than enough to balance the daily deficit of 3,000 barrels in gasoline production recently reported by the Fuel Administration. The National Petroleum War Service Committee and Oil Director Pequa have approved the action.

Father Martin Malloy, of Loveland was in the choir of mixed voices which sang the Requiem Mass gloriously. At the offertory Mr. Wm. Smith sang "Jesus Sweet Jeses" and Father Malloy rendered a solo "O Dry Those Tears." Miss Margaret McDonald was the organist.

Father Fogarty spoke most heart-somely of the lad he had first known when entering Sunday School; of the boy growing up under his care and showing such development and interest in his work; of the young soldier, eager to take his part in service for his country and winning deserved popularity for himself at the training camp.

At the conclusion of the beautiful services the entire assembly sang with a bray in many a voice, "The Star Spangled Banner."

A long procession wended to St. Colman's cemetery and following the last rites at the grave the taps sounded their mournful good-bye.

The pall-bearers included Pvt. Emerson Chapman, representing the Great Lakes Training Camp, Messrs. W. E. Clever, Wm. Frayne Jr., Jerry Malloy, Thos Collopy, Wm. Backenstoe.

Among the quantities of flowers from relatives and friends there was a magnificent floral anchor from aunts of the dead boy, a wreath from Pvt. Chapman, double sprays from the Ohio State Telephone Co. and the High School Class of 1914.

Relatives coming from a distance were the grand mother, Mrs. Eli Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. McVey, Mr. Chas. Head, Greenfield; Mr. and Mrs. Will Findley, London; Mr. Samuel Wilson, Samatha; Mrs. Arthur Rhone-mus, New Vienna; Mrs. Will Thomas, Delaware.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE FOR FRED HILLERY

Never in the history of St. Colman's church has there been a funeral service of such tragic impressiveness as that of Pvt. Fred Hillery, held at nine o'clock Tuesday morning.

Long before the hour people flocked to the church which was crowded to overflowing when the casket, covered with the silk flag which had been placed over the young soldier at the Great Lakes Training Camp, was borne down the aisle to the sad strains of the Requiem music.

Simultaneously with the placing of the bier in front of the altar the great concourse of people rose to sing "America."

A pall of overpowering sadness hung over the assembly and the tragedy of the war, embodied in the silent form of the young soldier beneath the flag impressed itself anew. Above over the entire church waved the stars and stripes, symbol of the nation's appreciation of her son's loyal gift, and around the casket lay a wonderful profusion of flowers—expressing both affection for the brave young boy and sympathy for his heart broken family.

The solemn High Mass was conducted, Father Fogarty the celebrant assisted by Father Urtel of Wilmington and Father Conroy, of Jamestown.

Forward!

With no thought of bursting shrapnel and poisonous gases into which they plunge—with every muscle tense, with every faculty of mind alert, with one thought only—TO FIGHT AND WIN.

That is the way our men are going into battle. When the shrill whistle sounds the advance out they go—their whole heart in the task before them.

No power on earth can hold them back.

Forward!

The same sharp challenge to battle is sounding for us. We must answer in the same proud way—the way of our fighting men—the American way—we must lend the way they fight.

We must show the war-maddened Hun a united American people moving forward shoulder to shoulder, irresistibly, to Victory.

Our task is to supply the money, the ships, the guns, the shells that we must have to win. It is a tremendous task. We must do it as our fighting men do theirs—with the indomitable spirit of Victory.

We must work, and save, and lend with one thought only—TO FIGHT AND WIN.

Get into the fight—with your whole heart.

TO STIMULATE IRON PRODUCTION

(Associated Press Correspondence)

New York, September 29.—With an aim toward stimulating the war-time production of iron and steel and coal and coke, a special meeting of the American Institute of Mining Engineers will be held in Milwaukee, Wis., during three days beginning October 8th. Prominent members of the Institute of Metals division, and the Iron and Steel section of the Institute will be in attendance.

Mining engineers throughout the country feel that the importance of iron and steel production, which in itself is dependent on the quantity and quality of coal and coke available, is paramount at the present stage of the war.

The Milwaukee meeting will be held simultaneously with the annual meeting of the American Foundrymen's Association, and the men actually working with the products of American mines will be able to take counsel with the American engineers on the most pressing needs of the day.

Some of the subjects to be taken up in the course of the sessions are: A symposium on the conservation of tin, the metallurgy of aluminum, dental alloys, radium, low temperature, distillation of Illinois and Indiana coals, the manufacture of ferro-alloys in the electric furnaces, the use of coal in pulverized form, price fixing of bituminous coal by the United States Fuel Administration, the work of the national research council.

Motion pictures will be shown on the triplex steel process, concrete ships, and the work of war cripples in the manufacturing industries.

BAND CONCERT AT 7:30 TONIGHT

Tonight at 7:30 the concert by the Naval Training Station Band will be given in this city, in front of the courthouse, and Hons. Frank B. Willis, John Kramer and Pierre White will deliver short addresses in the interests of the Fourth Liberty Loan.

As the meeting is to be held in the open air there are no restrictions imposed by the Board of Health, which believes that the danger of contracting the influenza is very small.

A mammoth crowd is expected to hear the boys from the greatest naval training station in the world, and trained by John Phillip Sousa, greatest bandmaster in the world.

Germany's Terms

By Count Roon

Germany is entitled to the following terms because of its strength, and until they are realized there should be no armistice:

Annexation of Belgium. Annexation of the entire Flanders coast, including Calais. Annexation of the Briey and Longwy basins and the Toul, Belfort and Verdun regions eastward.

Restitution to Germany of all her Colonies, including Kiaochow.

Great Britain must cede to Germany such naval bases and coaling stations as Germany designates.

Great Britain must give Gibraltar to Spain, cede its war fleet to Germany, give Egypt and the Suez Canal to Turkey.

Greece must be re-established under former King Constantine, with frontiers as before the war.

Austria and Bulgaria will divide Serbia and Montenegro.

Great Britain, France, and the United States must pay all of Germany's war costs, the indemnity being a minimum of $45,000,000,000.

They must also agree to deliver raw materials immediately.

France and Belgium must remain occupied at their expense until these conditions are carried out.

CRAFTON STUDIOS

How Are You Going To Answer Germany's Peace Terms?

THE greatest advertisement for the Fourth Liberty Loan of the United States of America has been written by a Prussian.

His name is Count Roon and he wrote it as a member of the Prussian House of Lords. It is printed above. Read it carefully.

Forty-five billion dollars or more indemnity!

This, then, is the price the world must pay for a victorious German peace. This, then, is the footnote to the Kaiser's prayer, expressed in the coldest terms of plainest business.

This is the meaning of war to the Prussian, as he proclaims his battles righteous, prosecuted in self-defense.

Oh, you men and women of America, is there a dollar in all this land to-day so tightly held that it will not now come forth to answer the swaggering arrogance of the Hun?

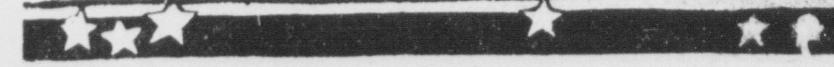

These days will tell, for as you place your name upon that subscription blank for Liberty Bonds you state the price your land, your liberty and democracy are worth to you today.

Now how are you going to answer the "peace terms" of the kaiser and his band of murdering buccaneers?

"Carry On"

The news of Bulgaria's collapse, with all the consequences certain to follow in its train, the rehabilitation of Serbia and Rumania, with the collapse of Turkey which appears to be as certain as anything can in the future, it seems, means a victorious end of the war is near at hand. It means that the right will finally triumph and that the end, no longer in doubt, is only a matter of time now and a short time, comparatively speaking, too.

Developments, glorious as they are, should cause us to redouble every effort and to speed up every energy. With victory almost in our grasp the only way to make it certain beyond all doubt, to make it a present tangible fact instead of a great probability, is to drive on.

The overwhelming superiority of the allies in every war activity and in every war zone has been clearly evidenced during the last few months and it is growing more pronounced with every day's developments.

The morale of the Huns and their allies is broken and broken finally, and irretrievably, unless we permit them to rally.

The President's Appeal

Just why, with the proposal squarely presented, the Senate has delayed favorable action on the resolution providing for woman's suffrage has been difficult for the majority of people to understand and why there should be, as there was, any doubt at all as to what the action of the Senate would be was a still greater mystery. Both of the greater political parties in their platforms declare in favor of bestowing the elective franchise on the women of America, but the mysteries of that most mysterious of all games, politics, stayed the action of the Senate and indeed made favorable action on the resolution, if pressed at this time, exceedingly doubtful.

It remained for President Wilson, in one of his masterly addresses, to make clear the duty of the senators, present the need of the executive, in the great work of the war, for the assistance of the women of America and urge that favorable action on the pending resolution be taken.

The glorious work of the mothers, wives and daughters of America in this great struggle has been too evident, the effect has been too pronounced to admit of any denial of the assertions that the women of America have been one of the greatest, one of the most powerful factors in bringing America so promptly to that real war basis which has been a great determining factor in the world war.

We have been conscious, all of us, that the nation will need that great influence in bringing order and settled conditions when the great after the war reorganization work is upon us. The women who have done so much and suffered so much in this titanic struggle should be accorded their proper place at the great council table of nations which will after the war set about the problems of peace and the formulation of plans which will make a recurrence of the present appalling conditions impossible.

We need the refining influence of the women to put us right and keep us right, we need the clear insight and the honest logic of the women of the land. We cannot deny the part which women have taken in this great work, we cannot be unmindful of their sacrifices and their sufferings and we should not undertake to bar them from the work which is certain to come after the war.

Time to Act

Every community should be more alert now than ever before to secure as many essential industries—labor employing manufactory—as possible at this time. That's the proper course to pursue at any time, but at this time it is an imperative duty.

In the first place no community should permit its opportunities to remain worthless. The nation wants every possible location of advantage to be rendered available for war work. There is no more excuse for allowing the opportunities of a community to go to waste in times like these than there is for an individual to allow his opportunities to be wasted.

Not only that, but following the classification of the new registrants will come the work or fight order, which will involve many more men than the former order did, and we all know the effect of the former order. Scores of men in this community were called upon to abandon non-essential work and seek employment in essential work. There being very few essential industries here there was an exodus to places where essential industries were established and in operation.

Whereas the former order affected only men from twenty to thirty-one years of age, this order will affect men up to the age of forty-five.

POEM FOR TODAY

WOMAN TO MAN

Woman is man's enemy, rival and competitor.—John J. Ingalls.
You do but jest, sir, and you jest not well
How could the hand be enemy of the arm.
Or seed and sod be rivals. How could light
Feel jealousy of heat, plant of the leaf,
Or competition dwell 'twixt lip and smile?
Are we not part and parcel of yourselves?
Like strands in one great braid we intertwine
And make the perfect whole. You could not be
Unless we gave you birth; we are the soil
From which you sprang; yet sterile were that soil
Save as you planted. (Though in the Book we read
One woman bore a child with no man's aid,
We find no record of a man-child born
Without the aid of woman! Fatherhood
Is but a small achievement at the best.
While motherhood is heaven and hell.)
This ever-growing argument of sex is most unseemly and devoid of sense.
Why waste more time in controversy, when
There is not time enough for all of love.
Our original occupation in this life?
Why pride of our defects—of where we fail,
When just the story of our worth would need
Eternity for telling; and our best development comes ever through your praise
As through our praise you reach your highest self?
Oh! had you not been miser of your praise
And let our virtues be their own reward.
The old established order of the world
Would never have been changed.
Small blame is ours
For this unsexing of ourselves, and worse
Effeminating of the male. We were Content, sir, till you starve us, heart and brain.
All we have done, or wise or otherwise,
Traced to the root, was done for love of you.
Let us taboo all comparisons.
And go forth as God meant us, hand in hand.
Companions, mates, and comrades evermore;
Two parts of one divinely ordained whole.

ROOSEVELT FAVORS DRAFTING EVERYONE

(American Press)

Columbus, Oct. 1.—Universal obligatory service for both men and women, not only for military purposes but social and industrial; vigorous treatment of conscientious objectors, and putting forth of utmost war effort now, when news from the front is good, were advocated by Theodore Roosevelt in his speech dedicating a memorial arch and opening the liberty loan drive here.

Rejoicing that all men 18 to 45 now are registered, Roosevelt declared all women likewise should be registered for service. The training for men should not merely be military but industrial. All boys should learn trades worth while, should have at least six months' hard manual labor, no matter how wealthy, so that they would know "what work is when they read about it," he asserted. Every girl, regardless of wealth, should learn enough housework from the state to teach her how to cook a meal if she should have to do it, he said.

The colonel flayed profiteers, bond dodgers, slackers, loafers and those who seek to curtail the nation's production through limitations on labor's output. He warned against overconfidence because of the recent success of the allies and the downfall of Bulgaria. He declared the Hun was on the run."

BRITISH AIRMEN DO VAST DAMAGE BEHIND THE FRONT

(Associated Press Correspondence)

London, September 12.—The increasing destructiveness of Allied air raids is attested to by German prisoners. While statements of this kind must generally be treated with reserve, there is evidence that this particular information is very near the truth.

Valenciennes Station was heavily bombed by British airmen recently. A prisoner subsequently stated that for a number of days following the raids trains were unable to pass through Valenciennes as a big engineer dump had been hit and barrels of oil and explosives were burning and blowing up.

A raid was made upon an ammunition dump near Marais Wood, and several photographs taken during the raid showed the explosion. A party of prisoners captured later volunteered the information that the dump blew up and that the moral effect was enormous.

A prisoner is responsible for the statement that not long ago an ammunition train was hit and blew up in Valenciennes, a fact which fully confirms the British official report that direct hits were obtained upon a moving train at Valenciennes on the night of May 31.

Still another report by a recently captured German prisoner records that a saw-mill at Somain managed by a German and employing 150 workmen was completely destroyed, as the result of an air raid. Somain was bombed by British airmen.

THE INFLUENZA

The epidemic of influenza is serious and widespread—more so, probably, than is generally realized—which is all the more reason for keeping calm about it. Hysteria in the face of an epidemic is quite as mischievous and may, in the long run, prove as fatal as panic in a burning building.

Influenza should be regarded like any other highly infectious disease. We should keep out of crowds, indoors or out, whenever possible; and when impossible, it is well to have a clean handkerchief to hold over the mouth and nostrils as a mask. Stay in the open air, especially in the sunshine, as much as you can.

If you feel the symptoms of grip, do not drag around a miserable existence trying to do work for which you are not fit. Give it up and go to bed. It will save time. What is more, it will save your friends and neighbors from being exposed to infection from you.

Persons suffering from the disease should be segregated, but not quarantined. Unless the attack is very acute patients are probably better off at home than in a hospital.

After all, a normal healthy body is the best immunity from the disease. Fatigue is often the entering wedge of the infection. Plenty of nourishment, plenty of rest and, above all, plenty of sleep are the bulwarks.

Finally, it is well to remember that the mental state of fear, lowering our natural resistance is an invitation to the disease. The simple rules of cleanliness and personal hygiene and a serene mind are our best protection.—Boston Globe.

MURPHY DID IT

(American Press)

Washington, Oct. 1.—Dominic I. Murphy, the American consul general at Sofia, is credited with the responsibility for Bulgaria's withdrawal from the war, in a statement made by the German foreign office. Murphy is said to have conducted the preliminary negotiations and to have accompanied the Bulgarian delegates to Saloniki in the capacity of adviser. Murphy was acting without instructions from the state department, Secretary Lansing said, and was functioning entirely in an unofficial capacity. Murphy has been ordered back to his post by the state department. No criticism of Mr. Murphy is made here, but it is made plain that he had no instructions to participate in the negotiations.

It has been reported that Bulgaria blamed Germany for her defeat in Macedonia because the Germans had not sent reinforcements promptly. Germany not unlikely will make a strong attempt to keep control of the railroad from Berlin to Constantinople, which runs through Sofia.

HAS RECOVERED

Word has been received from Sgt. W. B. Hyer, of M Company, stating that at the time of writing he had so far recovered from shell shock that he would soon be back at the front. He had been in the hospital for some time previous to writing.

OHIOANS IN IT

(American Press)

Paris, Oct. 1.—In an effort to hold back the Americans between the Argonne forest and the Meuse, the Germans are constantly throwing in fresh divisions. Missouri, Kansas and Ohio troops, after four days' continuous fighting, withstood the counter attacks of the fresh enemy masses without budging, then resumed their offensive, gaining more ground. The German artillery is becoming more active, while the American 75s are firing point blank from the first line positions, sweeping the Argonne hills.

The outstanding achievement of the American army in the latest offensive undoubtedly was that of its aviators, who have done all that was expected of them and much more.

Their commander, Colonel Mitchell, proudly claims there is nothing to beat them in the world, and it will be long before the record of up to and including Saturday is surpassed, with 60 machines downed and 12 balloons burned, without a single casualty.

THE DRYEST

Camp Kearny, San Diego, Cal. September 26.—The 158th Infantry, formerly the First Arizona infantry, lays claim to the right to call itself the "dryest" regiment in the army.

The men base this claim on the fact that the entire commissioned personnel of the regiment, soon after being mustered into federal service, took an oath to drink no intoxicants until the present war is ended.

HOME THRONGED FOR J.A. MELVIN FUNERAL

The Melvin home on E. Paint street was thronged with relatives, friends and business associates Monday afternoon for the funeral services of Mr. J. A. Melvin.

The Mayor and members of the City Council, of which Mr. Melvin was President, attended in a body and also the members of the Draft Board, with whose office the daughter, Miss Marie has been for some time connected.

Both in the large attendance and in the impressive services, conducted by Rev. Arthur P. Cherrington, of Grace M. E. church, assisted by Rev. T. M. Hare, of Westerville, high honor was paid to Mr. Melvin in the triple capacity of the respected businessman, the upright official and the warm hearted friend.

Rev. Cherrington read the memoir and Tennyson's poem, "Crossing the Bar", after which Rev. Hare made an eloquent and appreciative talk.

The speaker had been closely associated with Mr. Melvin and, from his personal knowledge, realized the quiet force of the life now closed. Mr. Melvin was no fair weather friend—just plain "All" people always knew where to find him, dependable and ready to lend a helping hand—a man of integrity who will be missed from the community with which he has been so long associated; and missed most of all in the home to which he was so devoted.

Miss Daisy Cockerill sang beautifully "Sometime We'll Understand" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." Mrs. B. E. Kelley the accompanist. The burial was made in the Washington cemetery; the pall-bearers Messrs. E. A. McCoy, F. M. McCoy, Mart L. McCoy, Clark Rowe, J. C. Thompson, Dr. C. V. Lanum.

The flowers were exceptionally handsome and in great number. The family's farewell gift was an immense floral blanket covering the casket and another large design from Mrs. Melvin's brothers and in addition to personal remembrances there were beautiful pieces from the I. O. O. F., the Fayette Encampment of the Daughters of Rebekah, the Mayor and City Officials, Hon. and Mrs. J. M. Willis and the girls in the Draft Board office. Mrs. Penn's Sunday School Class and the Paint street group.

Relatives who came from a distance were Rev. and Mrs. T. M. Hare, Westerville; Mrs. Anna Nixon, Lebanon; Mr. Roy McCoy and family, of Mt. Sterling and Mrs. Allie James of Cleveland, a sister of Mrs. Melvin's who has been with her during the last weeks of Mr. Melvin's illness.

Miss Elizabeth Johnson, City Librarian, went to Columbus Tuesday morning to attend the meeting of the Ohio Library Association and the Library Conference in regard to the Cantonment work and the coming campaign for the United War Work Drive in America. MUST STERILIZE SAYS HEALTH BOARD CUPS MUST GO

The following notice to restaurant, hotel, dining room and refreshment stand proprietors is issued by Health Officer Byron, and must be carried out to the letter in order to prevent the spread of the influenza:

All restaurant, refreshment stand, hotel and dining room proprietors are ordered to thoroughly sterilize all knives, forks, spoons, dishes, glasses, etc., with scalding water. All roller towels and public drinking cups must go at once.

This is one of the health measures taken to prevent the spread of Spanish influenza and must be complied with at once. If an inspector drops in and finds a violation of these orders, proper action will be taken immediately.

HUNS PREPARING FOR RETREAT BUT FIGHT VICIOUSLY

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, October 1.—When the Senate apparently was about to vote on the Woman Suffrage amendment resolution President Wilson supplemented his address of yesterday by sending personal letters to several Democratic senators regarded as opponents, urging them to give the measure their vote.

The Senate today rejected, 61 to 22, a proposal to limit the franchise to white women.

Their divisions are not fresh troops but consist in part of regiments secured by dissolving divisions already in line which have split up to help out elsewhere.

WOUNDED SECOND TIME

CAPTAIN ASTOR

Donations for the destitute Belgians and French are coming into the Red Cross headquarters with a promptness that shows a combined desire to spare further suffering to these unfortunate peoples and to share with them our warmth.

Members of the Red Cross Committee and the Woman's Committee Council of National Defense, predict from the impetus given to the drive in the first day that Fayette county will come forth splendidly with her quota.

Thursday is to be the big Rally Day and autos will be sent out all over town to bring in donations where people have not previously sent them.

Miss Dorothy Dill has been appointed chairman and with her will work a corps of boys and girls going out through the city to gather in clothing and other articles. Each person who has a donation ready is asked to place a small flag in the front yard and their bundle on the porch, where it will be found and taken to Red Cross headquarters.

This rally will begin at 9:00 a. m.

Thursday. The C. N. D. chairmen of each ward are now going around taking the names of those residing in their territory so that no one will be missed.

It is asked that people remember to put in a few yards of warm material for the babies.

So put your flag in your yard Thursday and your bundle on the porch if you live in town—if in the country bring your donations to Red Cross headquarters.

HAZARDOUS WORK OF AIRMEN WHEN PLANE IGNITES

Associated Press Correspondence

British Airdrome in France, September plane caught on fire while trying to plant caught on fire while trying to obtain the range of a bridge. Did the airmen attempt to make a landing to escape the flames or did they remain aloft to complete their task?

The pilot of the plane gives the answer in his own words.

"I switched off the patrol supply, and opened out the throttle," he said "One steep, swift dive, and the fire was out."

"Then I hesitated. Should we hurry off for home and safety, or continue to shoot, in which a very little more observing would bring complete success? I turned to the observer. He leaned over and inspected the damage. It was not very bad really. He shouted into my ear,

"Let's carry on!"

"I climbed again. Our battery was very soon firing as a battery—all guns—our last messages having completed the registration; and now shells were dropping all about the target. Our part was done and in a few minutes time the bridge was entirely destroyed.

In our excitement the faulty engine had been forgotten, until, with one last splutter, it gave out completely, it stopped.

"The machine was really on fire, this time, and I was too late. The wood-work was burning, independently of petrol or exhauste, and to dive now would only fan the flames about my feet. Yet we had to get to the ground and very quickly too.

"I put the machine into a violent side-slip away from the lines. The flames were thus fanned toward the opposite wing. The observer, leaning over my shoulder squirted his fire extinguisher about my feet. This enabled me to keep control of the rudder bar. We were down to 1,500 feet, but the heat was now intense.

"The fire had reached the right wing. I pushed down the nose to hasten our descent, keeping the machine also in a side-slip. The rush of air slightly changed the direction of the flames. We were nearly down. The ground rushed toward us. I took off the "bank" and "flattened out." One landing wheel touched with a bump, broke away and continued its course independently. The machine piroueted on the remaining wheel, and finally crashed on its nose and left wing.

"Springing to the ground we hurried away from the burning wreck, only just in time, for a few seconds later the petrol tank exploded."

What Becomes of the Money?

It is very important that you should have a clear understanding of what happens to your Liberty Bond money. First, you pay it in at the bank. Then the bank turns it over to the American Government.

The American Government spends this money RIGHT HERE IN AMERICA for everything that is needed for Victory, to take care of the boys "over there."

It will not take you long to picture in your mind the endless number of things that Uncle Sam has to buy to make certain of Victory, and remember, that practically all of this money is being spent in America so that it comes back to you and the rest of the people of America in the form of wages, salaries and in other ways.

MOST WONDERFUL MEMORIAL SHAFT IN ALL THE WORLD

Sgt. Max G. Dice Writes Interestingly of the World Famous Washington Monument, Giving Impressions and Historic Facts Relating to Magnificent Obelisk.

The accompanying interesting description of the Washington monument at Washington, D. C., by Sergeant Max G. Dice, now stationed at that point, will be read with much interest because of the historic facts related in the manner in which they are set forth.

The Washington National Monument.

This bit of narrative description, if one may presume to call it such, and other articles of similar nature on the same general subject which may follow, have been written or shall be written with a threefold purpose: to bring back to memory the beauties and wonders of Washington to those who have viewed and been impressed by them to create the desire to see, and the attitude of appreciation in those who shall perhaps at some time in the future have the opportunity to sojourn in the Capitol City; and to paint an inadequate and crude word picture for those who may be destined to live their lives without the inspiration of seeing the beautiful and interesting buildings, collections and works of art, etc., first hand.

With one notable exception, Washington is not built into the air. This one exception, the Washington Monument, is all the more prominent as a feature of the landscape for this reason. It is unusual but true that one is not impressed upon viewing the monument from a distance for first time. Of course one must grant even upon this initial view that it is a good sized shaft of masonry, but if one were called upon to estimate the height or diameter at the base, the average calculation would fall far short of the real figures. However, after a few days association with the monument, one is attracted by the fact that it seems almost impossible to find a spot in any direction of the city from which it is not readily seen, and that as viewed from the National Capitol it seems almost as large as when viewed from locations much closer. In fact, when leaving the structure, it seems to gradually grow larger until one gets some four or five city blocks away.

The walls are 15 feet in thickness at the entrance and taper to 18 inches at the top of the shaft. The facing is of pure white marble from Maryland, and the interior backing of New England granite. The foundation, composed of rock and cement is 36 feet deep and 126 feet square. An elevator has been constructed in the center of the interior, and more than ten minutes is required to make the trip to the top and return complete.

The interior is lighted by electricity which affords opportunity of seeing the many notable memorial stones which are set in the inner face of the monument. Many states are represented and a number of lodges of Free Masons and Odd Fellows. There are stones from many historic battlefields, and from the ruins of ancient Carthage, Vesuvius, the tomb of Napoleon at St. Helena, a marble from the Parthenon, and stone from the chapel of William Tell. Among the foreign countries represented are Japan, Siam, China, Brazil, and the Cherokee Nation.

It is said that the inscription "Laus Deo" appears on the aluminum tip at the summit, however, all are satisfied not to venture to verify the statement.

At the height of more than 500 feet the walls are pierced with eight windows, which although in reality four feet in diameter, appear as tiny spots when viewed from the base of the monument. These windows are for the benefit of hundreds of sightseers who throng the monument daily, and who must peer out upon the city from the dizzy height to have been impressed. The beautiful landscape gardening of the Mall, an artistically designed and soft green mantle stretches to the White House on the north and to the Capitol on the east. Scattered throughout and bordering on Mall and White House Park are many marvels of ancient, medieval and modern architecture, among them, Smithsonian Institution, the New National Museum, the Pan-American Union, the Congressional Library, the Corcoran Art Gallery, the United States Treasury Building and the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. An excellent view can be had of the downtown section of the city, to the north and to the northeast. To the south and west, one can trace the course of the Potomac as it broadens from the comparatively narrow channel above Georgetown into what almost appears to be a bay farther down at the junction of the Anacostia River below the city. Then the Virginia hills and peaceful Arlington are to be admired on the west, and one may discern far in the distance in this direction the faint line against the horizon of the mountains of the Blue Ridge.

The history of the planning and building of the monument is most interesting. The plan of providing a fitting memorial of Washington's military and political services had its inception during his lifetime. In 1873 Congress resolved to erect a marble monument, and Washington is said to have selected himself the site afterwards adopted. The project was revived at Washington's death but no practical steps were taken until 1883.

At that time was founded the Washington National Monument Society and funds were raised by popular subscription. The plan of Robert Mills was adopted which provided for a Pantheon 100 feet high with a colonnade, a colossal statue of Washington over the portico, and a central obelisk 600 feet high. All but the obelisk was subsequently abandoned. The cornerstone was laid in 1884. By 1855, the shaft had attained a height of 152 feet; then, for various reasons, the construction was suspended, not to be resumed until 1878, when Congress appropriated money for its completion.

The finished monument was dedicated on February 21, 1885. The orator on that occasion was Robert C. Winthrop, who, thirty-seven years before, had delivered the oration at the laying of the cornerstone. The following quotation is from his oration at the laying of the cornerstone:

"Lay the cornerstone of a monument which shall adequately bespeak the gratitude of the whole American people to the illustrious Father of his Country. Build it to the skies; you cannot outreach the loftiness of his principles! Found it upon the massive and eternal rock; you cannot make it more enduring than his fame! Construct it of the peerless Parian marble; you cannot make it purer than his life! Exhaust upon it the rules and principles of ancient and modern art; you cannot make it more proportionate than his character."

500,000 PRISONERS TAKEN BY ALLIES

(American Press)

London, Oct. 1.—Approximately 300,000 prisoners have been captured by allied forces since Marshal Foch took the offensive July 15. Of these 200,000 have been taken on the western front, 50,000 in Palestine, 20,000 in Macedonia and 18,000 in Siberia and northern Russia. The American forces count more than 30,000 in their bag. In addition, 3,500 guns, 22,000 machine guns and enormous quantities of other military material have been taken.

RED CROSS ACTIVITIES

The American Red Cross War Council today issues the fifth instalment of its statement setting forth the use that is being made of the Red Cross war fund. This instalment deals with the activities of the 14th division of the Red Cross, which covers all parts of the world outside the war zone.

"The 14th, or Insular and Foreign Division of the American Red Cross was organized in November, 1917. In the beginning it consisted of 11 chapters, three of which, in Syria, Turkey and Persia, were inactive. The other 8 have grown to a membership of 100,000 adults and 125,000 juniors. The finished product of their efforts brought to the Red Cross storehouses represents a yearly value of $1,500,000. To the first war fund drive this division gave $267,462.63. Its quota to the second drive was $300,000. Its actual contribution was $1,710,000.

"The first gift came from Argentina, where 200 Americans known as the Patriotic Society of American Women held a bazaar which netted $105,000. A second bazaar last year brought $156,000. The Argentine chapter in the second war fund drive sent in $60,000.

"From Valparaiso and the coast towns of Chile, with a total of less than 200 Americans, there came a contribution of $118,000. Chile's contribution to the second war fund drive was $32,800.

"Peru chapter donated $19,300 and a monthly contribution of $1,000. In the Canal Zone the work is well organized and going forward and reports from Central America show anxiety to help the cause.

"In the West Indies there is great interest in Red Cross work. In Cuba the second drive brought $155,000, while the Republic of Cuba, as a government sent $65,000 as a special contribution. In Porto Rico, a steady stream of knitted garments, etc., is coming from the women, in addition to a general contribution of $21,501.22.

"Hawaii reports 100 per cent in production and membership. In the latter part of 1917 Hawaii contributed $200,000. For the second drive came $677,000. In the farther east, China gave $1,803, for the first drive and $100,000 for the second.

"Japan is working hand in hand with the American Red Cross. In the first drive it contributed $2,322.38 and in the second, $60,000. The tiny island of Guam gave $2,612.57 to the first fund and $5,800 to the second.

"Then there are chapters in Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and of course, in the Philippines. In the latter a bazaar for the benefit of the Red Cross at-and samples see Haynes Furniture Company.

WOMAN OPERATOR RANKS AS SERGEANT

MRS. HAROLD DODD

The Way One Woman Feels.

A New York girl who recently returned from a year's service as ambulance driver for a French hospital, and gave up her evenings to service in an American hospital, has given out a statement in her home town that is worth thinking over:

"I wish that all Americans who suffer bereavement through this war could go to France," she remarked earnestly. "For there one is brought face to face with this gigantic world tragedy and is made to see how small all personal grief is in comparison. France makes us forget ourselves absolutely. We become merely a part of it all, just as the men are. And anything that frees us completely from all thought of self is good for us, I think," she added gravely.

"But it is the women here at home who are doing the hardest part," she commented, "for without them those in Europe would be helpless.

"I volunteered as an ambulance driver simply because I knew all about cars and felt that I should be of the greatest service in that capacity," she mentioned, adding, "but I have wished a thousand times that I knew how to nurse for it seems to me that nothing is so worth while as that."

Red Cross Helps Refugees.

The recent death of Dr. William A. Shedd, American missionary who died of cholera in Persian Kurdistan, has caused sadness throughout both in Assyrian and American circles and, in following the history of his work and persecutions brings into the limelight the work of the Red Cross in that oriental section.

The Rev. Dr. Shedd, together with his associate missionaries, accompanied the Assyrians fleeing from the invading forces of the Turks and Kurds, trying to lead them to a place of safety. This is the third time these Assyrian Christians have been put to flight. Sometimes the storm has abated its fury, only to start up again with increased energy.

Their first flight took place on the first day of January, 1915, when in the severe cold of winter they were driven north toward Russia. The second was in the month of August of the same year.

The only help these refugees are getting is from the American Red Cross. It follows them wherever they flee, over the mountains, through the valleys or across the vast and arid deserts.

Dr. Shedd's many years of unselfish service won the confidence of the Assyrians. He was held in great esteem among them. Born in their country, speaking various languages of the people as fluently as the natives themselves, he knew how to deal with them. He loved the people and interceded for them with the Turks and Kurds during the massacres of 1915. Through his co-operation, with the Persian Governor and other authorities he saved the lives of many Christians.

ENTIRE HUN LINE NOW GIVING WAY

(American Press)

London, Oct. 1.—Turkey, virtually cut off from communication with the Teutonic powers by reason of Bulgaria's withdrawal from the war, and with her armies in Palestine destroyed, will sue for peace, in the opinion of military experts here.

Seeing eventual defeat staring her in the face through the swift progress of the Serbian, Italian, British, Greek and French troops in the reclaiming of Serbia and the invasion of Bulgarian territory, the Bulgarians begged for an armistice, reserving to themselves no conditions. All the territory now held by King Ferdinand's men is to be evacuated, the Bulgarian army is to be immediately demobilized and all means of transport in the kingdom, even along the Danube, is to be given over into allied hands.

Thus, in addition to the isolation of Turkey, the buck door to a direct invasion of Austria-Hungary is flung wide open to the allies, and doubtless the time is not far distant when advantage to the full will be taken of the near avenue through which the enemy can be reached. With the debacle in Serbia and Bulgaria complete, the Austro-Hungarians in Albania soon will be put to the test, and when their evacuation to their own borders is accomplished the allies will have welded an iron semicircle about the central powers from the Black sea to the North sea.

Viewing the situation in all its aspects—the success of the great offensive in Belgium and France; the blotting out of the war zone in the Balkans; the cutting off of the Turks from intercourse with Germany and Austria-Hungary, except by the long route through the Caucasus and southern Russia, and the steady gains that are being made by the allies in making Russia once more a factor in the struggle—the darkest days of the war seemingly are faced by the Austro-Germans.

Pounding German Positions.

On all the sectors under attack from Belgian-Flanders to the region of Verdun the German front is gradually bending back under the violence of the attacks of the British, Americans, French and Belgians. In Belgium the advance of the troops of King Albert and of Field Marshal Haig have pierced so deeply eastward that Germany's submarine bases on the North sea are in jeopardy, through the impending cutting of the lines of communication behind them. The famous Messines-Wytschaete ridge has been captured and the allied guns dominate the plains beyond. Both Menin and Roulers, important junction points for the supplies of the German armies north and south, are virtually in the hands of the British and Belgians and seemingly soon must fall.

From Cambrai to St. Quentin the British and Americans again have delivered successfully hard smashes against the German strong points all along the front, including the remaining portions of the old Hindenburg line. The Germans here are offering most strenuous resistance and in counter attacks compelled the British on one or two sectors to withdraw for a slight distance. The British are in the process of clearing up the town of Cambrai, having penetrated its suburbs from the north west and southwest.

THEIR first flight took place on the first day of January, 1915, when in the severe cold of winter they were driven north toward Russia. The second was in the month of August of the same year.

The only help these refugees are getting is from the American Red Cross. It follows them wherever they flee, over the mountains, through the valleys or across the vast and arid deserts.
